Superintendent Harry R. McPhail and Principal Herbert Adams

Mr. McPhail's fine record as a school executive resulted this year in his being selected to attend the Superintendent's Work Conference this July at Columbia University.

Mr. Adams continued to guide Ames High through another profitable year with his supervision and constant support of the curricula and our many activities.

The Board of Education acts as the governing body of the public school system. The Board plans the budget and is in charge of all school financial matters as well as deciding general school policies.

Election is held each March to elect members for three year terms. Terms are staggered so there will always be experienced members on the Board. The Board appoints a secretary for each year and a treasurer is elected every two years.

Officers are Dr. J. D. Taylor, president; Frank B. Howell, secretary; and Hiram Munn, treasurer. Members are Mrs. Lee Rosebrook, Earl Holtz, Mrs. T. J. Maney, Frank Adams, Dr. Julia Cole Welden, L. O. Stewart, and superintendent Harry R. McPhail.

In March, Frank Adams was re-elected and Don Stevens was elected in place of Mrs. Maney.

Is There a Doctor in the House?

Dr. K. C. Piercy acts as school doctor in addition to maintaining his private practice.

Miss Ruth Ecklind, school nurse, keeps the health records for the public schools and has charge of an extensive public health program including hearing and eye tests, physical examinations and tuberculin tests.

Jointly they check pupils who have been absent before issuing admits.

The cafeteria staff prepares and serves meals for the school. They assist Miss Galster, cafeteria sponsor, in making a noon meal program possible for Ames High.

Ames High school's student council is the students' training in practical democracy, which is valuable to all of the students. The members of the council carry out the principles and beliefs of the student body which they represent.

Each of the 18 homerooms in the school is represented on the council by one member. These representatives are elected by the members of the homeroom and are responsible to them.

This year's presidents have been carrying a discussion of ideas brought up in student council back to their respective homerooms. This discussion has been preceded by a reading of the student council minutes over the sound system by the secretary of the council.

The two presidents of the student body are elected after a nominating assembly, campaigns, and rallies conducted by their supporters. Don Harris served as Ames High's student body president first semester and Jim Orth for second semester.

The council is comprised of eight different committees which specialize in serving the school in various ways. A member of the council serves as chairman of each of the committees. They supervise noon hour activities, organize and help homerooms run the all-school parties, and assist the faculty and students with Open House, Friendship Week, and Career Day.

STARRING
SENIORS

Graduation marks the end of a long road for the seniors . . . this year has meant fun and excitement, sadness and disappointment . . . football, all-school parties, basketball, Christmas formal, track, Junior-Senior prom, Senior week . . . and then the seniors step on the stage for the last time to be graduated from Ames High.

Dedication

This page is dedicated to Byron Brown, whose untimely death just before the beginning of his senior year in Ames High School was a great loss to his friends and the Senior Class. This picture was donated to the Hi-Y club and placed in their lounge.

This is a large, dense collage of black and white photographs, likely from a mid-20th-century yearbook. The photos are of various sizes and are arranged in an overlapping, non-linear fashion. The subjects are predominantly students, captured in a wide range of activities and settings. Some photos are formal portraits, while others are candid shots of students in classrooms, at social gatherings, or in outdoor environments. The collage includes group photos of clubs or teams, individual portraits of students, and scenes of students interacting with each other. The overall aesthetic is that of vintage mid-century photography, with a focus on capturing the everyday life and personalities of the school community.

Bit-Players Backstage

The incoming sophomores began their career by electing homeroom officers. Jack Wolf was elected Hi-Y secretary. The sophomore football team finished the season with a 3 won, 1 loss record. Two sophomores, Terry Rust and Bob Walkup, played varsity football and received letters at the end of the season. The basketball team took first place in its conference and Terry Rust and Jack Wolf, two outstanding members, were included in the tournament squad.

ACT I

The warm, spicy autumn days fill our memories with football, gayly colored stands filled with people cheering the home team . . . brilliant colored leaves drifting down, days slipping by, almost unnoticed . . . the gay fellowship of parties and picnics . . . then the leaves drift slower and slower, and the air grows chillier and frostier as autumn fades unexpectedly into winter.

BY AMES JAYCEES

Starting out slowly and picking up speed near the end of the season, the Ames High football team finished up in third place in the powerful Central Iowa Conference. The Little Cyclones lost their first three games, with Mason City 26-19, Newton 45-12, and Marshalltown 13-7, before they won a game, 10-6, against Oskaloosa. The homecoming game was played against West Waterloo, who overpowered the Little Cyclones, 41-20. Back on the winning trail Ames downed Grinnell, 45-12. Picking up speed the Ames players tied the mighty Fort Dodge powerhouse, 6-6, and the next week roared past their traditional rival, Boone, 20-6.

The Little Cyclones were coached by Kenny Wells, Hi Covey, and Ron Norman. The sophomore football squad won three of its games and lost one. Their season record was a win to Marshalltown, 13-6, Webster City, 13-7, Boone, 13-7, and a loss to East, 19-6.

Senior lettermen on the squad this year were ends: Bill Houk, who was elected captain at the end of the season, Rod Dodge, Jim Orth, and Dick Ross; tackles: Bob Hinrichs, George Allan, and Maurice Keeker; guards: Tom Judge and Dick Skoog; centers: Chuck Gray and Frank Wolf; backs: Ben Buck, Dick Green, Jim Holdredge, Mike Ritland, Rob Walsh, and John Nervig. These are the boys who won't be back to play for the Little Cyclones next season.

Lettermen who will return next year are juniors: Bill Jones, Chuck Adams, Denny Rust, Dan Arrasmith, Tom Bilek, Ancel Covey, Tom Cooper, Gary Fain, and Bob Gallagher. Sophomores who won letters were Terry Rust and Bob Walkup.

Managers for the football team were Don Harris, Bob Stacy, and Don Bradley. The trainer was Laverne Seversike.

Bill Houk, who was rated by many football experts as one of the finest ends that Coach Ken Wells has ever produced at Ames, was chosen among ten other boys by the Iowa Daily Press Association to be on the first all-state high school football team for 1952. Bill was an outstanding blocker and especially strong on defense. He caught 27 passes for 211 yards and passed, himself, for 28 yards more. He did all the team's punting and averaged 35 yards a punt. Besides this he scored a touchdown in every game and kicked 12 extra points.

Bill was also chosen by Jack North of the Des Moines Sunday Register and Tribune to hold down the end position on North's second all-state team. He was also a unanimous choice for first all CIC conference end.

At the annual Football Fireside held before the Boone game the football team elected the honorary captain of the year who would also captain the team during the Boone game. Bill Houk was chosen for this honor.

Tom Judge, utility lineman for Ames High, received honorable mention by Jack North in his all-state selections and was placed on the second CIC team.

Dick Green, Little Cyclone quarterback who was out part of the season because of illness, also made the second CIC team.

Little Cyclone performers winning third team berths were Frank Wolf, who played center for Ames, Denny Rust, who played tackle, and Rob Walsh and Mike Ritland, who shone in the backfield.

The Ames High school Pep Club has many activities besides cheering at games and providing pep and spirit. The Pep Club also works with the marching band during the football season, ushers at Iowa State College home football games, and takes charge of all student athletic ticket sales. Officers were Janet Williams, president; Mary Lamson, vice president; Jan Piper, secretary; and Barb McLaughlin, treasurer.

The cheersquad, headed by Janet Wilson as head cheerleader, has much to do with the school's pep and spirit also. Members of cheersquad plan and make sound system announcements, post signs, think up new yells, and revise old ones, besides leading yells at games and pep assemblies.

Marching Band

The marching band opened activities in the early fall by playing at all home football games. Under the direction of Mr. Richard Day and in collaboration with the Pep Club the band presented the flag before games, gave various half-time programs, and played selections throughout the game. The band and Pep Club took only one trip this year during the football season to Newton and presented a half-time program with the Newton band. However, there was at least one instrument at each of the out of town games to play the Loyalty Song for the Ames fans.

The pep band with student director Wally Smith played for all pep assemblies and basketball games. When there was no half-time program presented, the band played music.

Members of the band spent most of their leisure hours during the fall soliciting money for the new band uniforms. Business establishments and professional men in the community contributed parts of uniforms, a cap or belt, jacket, pants, up to a whole or several uniforms. All contributors' names were placed on the Ames High school's basketball programs except for 50 professional men who wished to remain anonymous. The uniforms were fitted and ordered during the first part of the winter and arrived in time to be exhibited at the annual spring concert.

The new uniforms were also shown off during Veishea when the band marched in the annual Veishea parade.

Homecoming 1953

Attendant Janet Williams, Queen Shirley Small, and Attendant Sarah Hall

Shirley Small was selected by the student body from a list of eleven candidates to reign as queen over the fourth annual Ames High school Homecoming which was held October 10. Selected as her attendants were Janet Williams and Sarah Hall.

song he had written for the occasion. The queen and the attendants were also honored during the half-time of the game and again at the special homecoming dance.

The Little Cyclone football team, captained by Rob Walsh, lost to West Waterloo, 41 to 20.

Red Cross had another active year under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Dickinson. Members distributed Red Cross material through town and helped address the envelopes at the local Red cross office.

In April, the club made joke scrapbooks for the patients at Blank Memorial Hospital. An annual project is that of financing the A Cappella Choir's trip to the Veterans' Hospital in Des Moines on Good Friday.

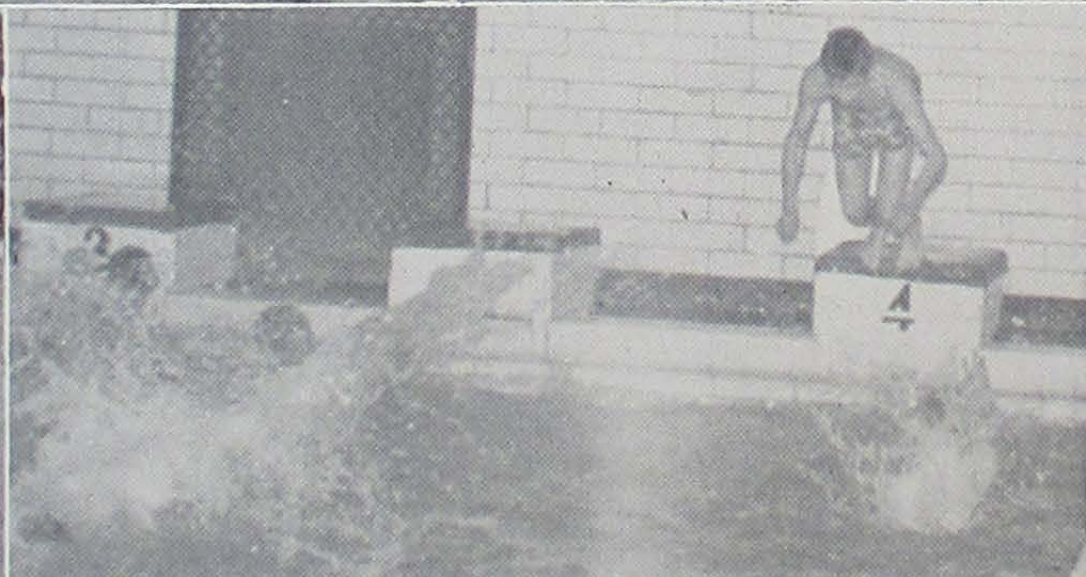

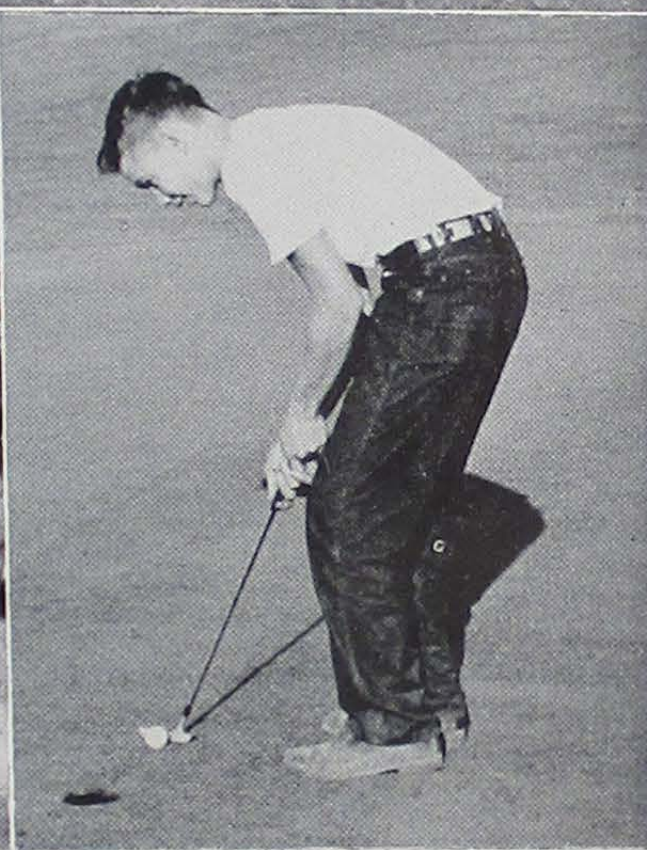

On October 3 and 4, Edie Holland attended the Iowa Red Cross convention at Cedar Falls. Both adults and teenagers were present and discussed the problem of larger enrollment in their organizations. She also served on a panel discussion group.

Edie Holland was first semester chairman and Ann McCarthy served in that capacity second semester. They were aided throughout the year by a representative of each homeroom.

"The Glass Menagerie"

The Dramatics Club presented for its major production this year The Glass Menagerie. It had a cast of four people. Taking the parts were Shirley Small, Bob Bentley, Peg Robbins, and Gary Mallo. The play was presented in the fall in order to raise money for the club.

Other projects of Dramatics Club included teaching the students how to act, how to feel emotions, and how to achieve good characters on the stage. Pantomimes and other devices were used in order to let the students feel the character which they wished to represent.

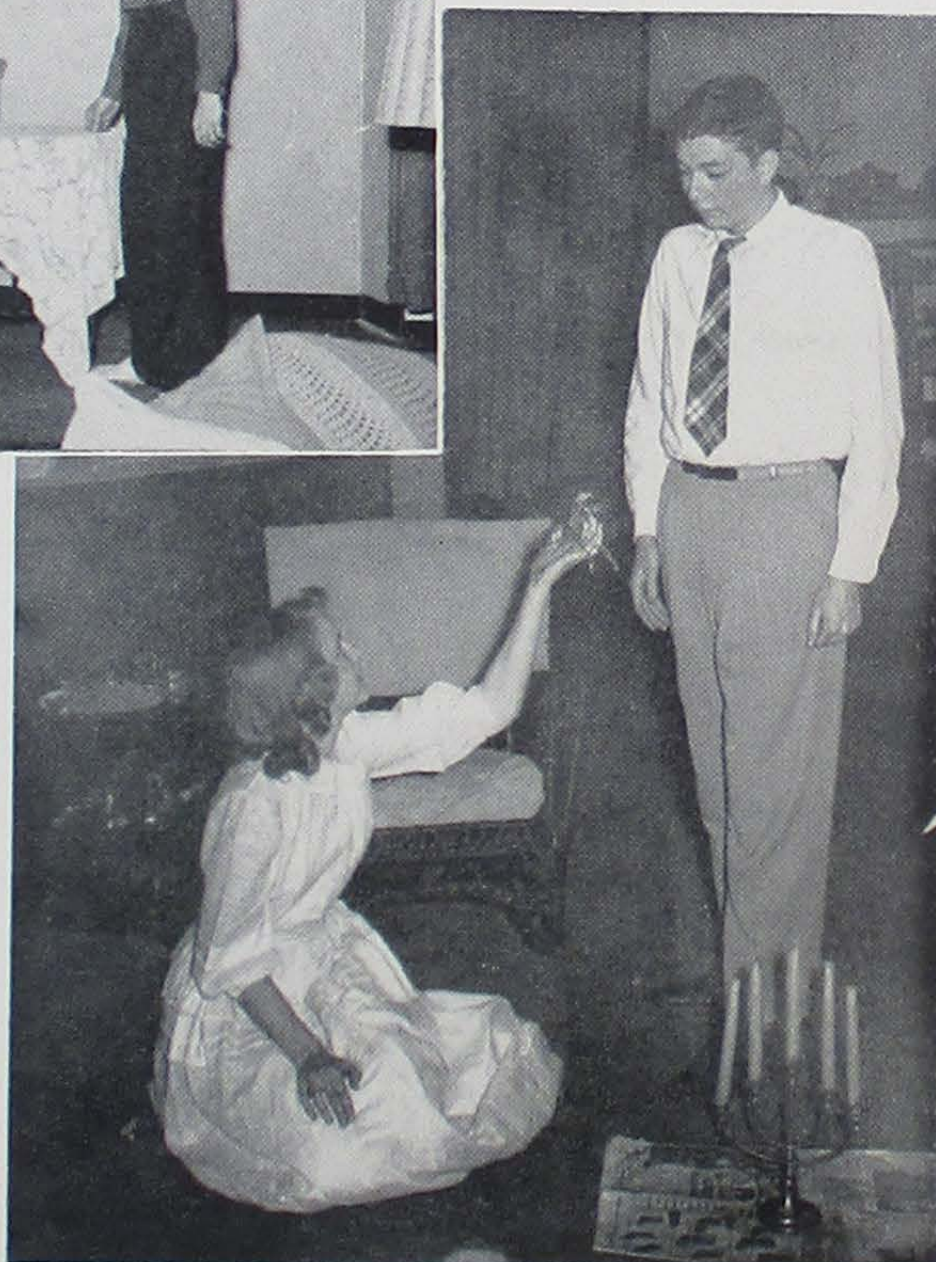

The members of the Club also devoted much time to stage work, building the set for their own play, and also aiding the juniors and seniors in building sets for their plays.

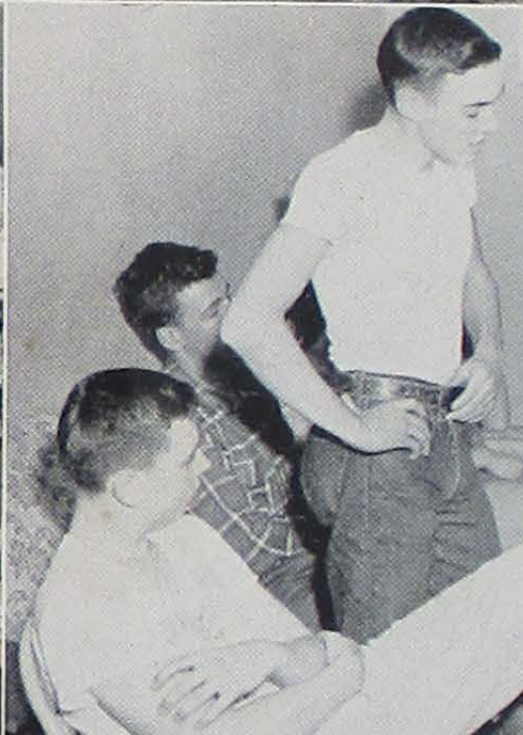

Beginning dramatics students concentrated on learning how to act, stage craft, and many introductory phases of the fine art of dramatics. They aided the advanced students in all three major productions in order to learn how to present their own plays in the next two years.

The Palm, a national honorary dramatics award, is presented to those students who have earned 52 points during the years and have also served as crew heads twice.

The clubs were ably sponsored this year by Miss Virginia Batstone, who also directed the three plays.

ACT II

WINTER

Memories of winter are bound by the soft, white snow and the hard, blue cold . . . Christmas bells softly ringing, peace and good will, the formal, floating across a dreamland of mist, in time to music . . . basketball, hot tired boys battle as watchers hold their breath, the beauty of an arching shot that swishes thru the basket . . . and suddenly the air grows warmer as spring peeks around the corner.

A tie for first place in the powerful Central Iowa Conference was the reward for the Little Cyclone basketball team who lost only three games in conference play and were undefeated in regular season non-conference play. Ames tied with Oskaloosa for the crown. They lost to Oskaloosa twice and to Grinnell once.

The Cyclones moved into tournament play and won the district tournament by defeating Marshalltown, 61-44, but lost in the first round of sub-state tournament play to Tech in an overtime, 53-54.

Ames was noted as a defensive team this year. Their defensive average was 50.1 points per game. Their offensive average was 60.5 points per game. During regular season play the scoring for the Little Cyclones was spread rather evenly. The leading scorer was Denny Rust who had 206 points on 81 field goals and 42 free throws. Bob McJimsey had 187 points, Mike Ritland had 179 points, Bill Houk had 172 points and George McJimsey had 123 points.

Dick Green was chosen team captain at the end of the year. Dick is a senior guard who added a good deal to the Little Cyclones' defensive game.

Basketball awards were presented at an assembly on April 2. Receiving major A's were seniors Dick Green, Bill Houk, Mike Ritland, and Dick Ross. Returning lettermen will be Jim Lamson, Bob McJimsey, George McJimsey, and Denny Rust.

The sophomore basketball team lost only two basketball games, to Marshalltown and Mason City. Two members of the team, Jack Wolf and Terry Rust, were members of the varsity tournament squad.

Members of Varsity Club are those boys who have been awarded letters in some form of varsity athletics or for managing. New members are initiated in the winter by playing a rousing game of basketball with the senior Pep Club girls at the half of one of the home games and in the spring by a dunking in the river at the annual Varsity Club picnic.

Officers this year include Dick Green, pres-

included a large theater marquee, soft lights, and many paper stars strung around the room which gave the impression to those who attended of the "Opening Night" for a play. Pictures of couples attending the dance and the queen and attendants were taken with the theater marquee as a background by SPIRIT photographers and sold to students who wished to keep them. Joe Molleston was publicity chairman for the dance and worked with a publicity committee consisting of Marna Cole, Diane Daine, Ann McCarthy, Erma Lee Nicholson, and Dee Wattonville.

The presentation of the SPIRIT Sweetheart and her attendants by Joe Molleston marked the highlights of the evening for most of the students. The ten candidates were selected by nominations in each homeroom, then were voted on by the entire student body several days before the dance. Sarah Hall was selected as Sweetheart and Sue Wymore and Janet Williams were chosen as her attendants. They were presented with corsages by Joe Molleston.

The free copy of the SPIRIT was drawn at the dance and presented to Hal Harris.

Opening Night

The annual midyear SPIRIT dance was held on January 24 in the study hall for all students of Ames High school to mark the climax of SPIRIT sales and present to the student body the 1953 SPIRIT Sweetheart. The dance was the "Opening Night" for the SPIRIT. The decorations

Friendship Week

The Girl Reserve organization co-operated with the Hi-Y group to present to Ames High students the 26th annual Friendship Week, February 9, 10 and 11. Dr. Paul Kuntz, Assistant Professor of Religion and Philosophy at Grinnell College, spoke to the three meetings of the student body. His overall topic was "Steady Lives in an Unsteady World." His three messages were entitled "A Fast World," "A Confused World," and "A Destructive World."

Other activities of Girl Reserves include selling holly wreaths to earn enough money to support their foster child, Lydia Tancers, filling Christmas boxes for the county home, sending clothes and other necessities to needy people in the world, and sponsoring a program every other week for each girl in the high school. The officers include Shirley Small and Emily

Dick Green and Shirley Small, first semester presidents, and Dr. Paul Kuntz, Friendship Week Speaker

Crouch, presidents; Peg Robbins, secretary; Marge Maakested, treasurer; and Elaine Elwell, assistant treasurer. The organization is sponsored by Miss Edna Wilcox, Miss Ruth Miller, and Miss Charlotte Nelson.

The Hi-Y club, carrying on an active organization for boys, presents varied programs once a month at general meetings and plans for six hobby groups that also meet once a month. The Hi-Y cabinet, which consists of 14 members each semester and was headed by Dick Green first semester and Tom Cooper second semester, and the homeroom representative direct such projects as support of a war orphan, maintenance of a lounge and recreation center for members, operation of a concession stand at home games, and this year for the first time the sale of seat cushions in the halls and at games. Mr. Ritland was sponsor for the Hi-Y organization.

They co-operated throughout the year with the Junior Executive Council and the faculty sponsor, Mr. Floyd Grainge. Council members were Dave Dutton, 237; Jan Piper, 110; Larry Knudsen, 238; George McJimsey, 213; Bob McJimsey, 232; and Gary Fain, 235.

With a hard-time theme, the Tuff Bounce Ball box social was held on December 19. About twenty couples came for supper and many more students attended the dance following. The event netted $33.24.

Promotion of ticket sales for the annual play was the important job for February. Life With Father was selected, and presented on the 26th and 28th of the month. Victorian sets and costumes added greatly to the authenticity of the production.

In March, the class sold autograph memory books, which proved quite successful.

Levi Leap was an all-school party given on April 18. Homeroom 237 had charge of dance.

Fun and hard work preceeded the Junior-Senior banquet and Frolic held on May 9. Decorations depicting Parisien scenes made the event an unforgettable climax to a memorable year.

New Suits

In the spring attention was again turned to the Ames High track, tennis, and golf squads.

These teams met tough schedules as they ably represented the school in their activities.

First on the list for the track squad was the state AAU indoor track meet. The team took third place in this meet which promised great achievements during the rest of the season. Following that the varsity squad participated in the Valley Relays in Des Moines, the Teachers' Relays in Cedar Falls, the Drake Relays in Des Moines, the Little Cyclone Invitational which consisted this year of a triangular meet at the Iowa State College track with East Des Moines and Marshalltown, the District Track Meet, the Central Iowa Conference Meet at Marshalltown, and finally the State Meet held this year in Des Moines. Only performers who had placed first or second in the District Meet could enter the State. Outstanding performers this year were Ben Buck, Jim Holdredge, Frank Wolf, Allan Griffen, Marvin Giebelstein, and many others. Jim Holdredge and Frank Wolf were elected track co-captains. The squad is coached by Hi Covey, who is assisted by Ken Wells. Without the extensive planning and hard work of these men Ames could not be rated as one of the top schools in the state in track competition.

A reserve squad which consisted of boys who didn't see action with the varsity squad competed in dual meets with Boone and Newton and meets with the Des Moines schools. This gave valuable experience to many sophomores. Hi Covey also coached this team.

The golf squad coached by Ron Norman participated in meets with Marshalltown, Cedar Rapids, the Lincoln of Des Moines Invitational, Newton, the Little Cyclone Invitational, Boone, the Central Iowa Conference meet, Marshalltown, the District Meet, and the State Meet.

The tennis squad coached by Donald Hartt were in meets with Des Moines Tech, Fort Dodge, West Waterloo, Roosevelt of Des Moines, East Des Moines, and Grinnell. They also went to the District and State Meets.

The spring athletic program at Ames High does not receive as much publicity as do other athletics at Ames High. This year more publicity was devoted to the track, golf, and tennis squads in the hope that more students would become interested in these programs.

As one of the most extensive in the state, the Ames High school intramural program attracts almost every boy in some phase of athletics or another. It provides a chance for amateur athletes not on regular varsity teams to participate in athletics. Among the 19 programs offered are touch football, basketball, table tennis, bowling, wrestling, and badminton. A trophy is awarded at the end of each year to the homeroom of each class that racks up the most points.

Basketball is the favorite sport. It is played round-robin fashion by pairing each homeroom with other homerooms of its class. The season is climaxed by the selection of the sophomore, junior, and senior all-stars who are chosen on the basis of their season's playing. The senior all-stars play the faculty members. The sophomore and junior all-stars play members of the basketball teams.

Ames High school's extensive intramural program is directed by Ray Smalling who is ably assisted by the intramural managers and council.

The Girl's Athletic Association aims to provide a well-balanced program of athletics for girls in Ames High school. To supply this program officers are chosen by the members of the club. This year's officers consisted of Pat Arney as president; Janet Wilson as vice president; Kay Bannister as secretary; Marna Cole and Edith Holland, intramural chairmen; Marilyn Hurlburt, social chairman; and Mary Lou Imsland and Carol Wells, point recorders.

The girls started out the season by a softball tournament this year as always. It was followed by badminton, a round robin and elimination tournament in basketball, and then a variety of sports such as bowling, ping pong, volley ball.

Girls who had earned 100 points by competing in tournaments and turning in points for activities done outside of school were initiated into the club on December 10. The initiation was followed by a pot-luck supper in the cafeteria for all initiates and any member of the club who wished to attend.

At the spring awards assembly all girls who had earned 500 points received small A's. Those with 1000 points were awarded large letters and several girls with 1500 points were awarded stuffed animals. Ribbons were also presented to the winners of the tournaments.

The organization was under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jean Eschner and Miss Jean Arrasmith.

Senior Senate

BACK: R. Walsh, Duffy, F. Wolf, H. Harris, Dick Green. FRONT: Stenerson, Schwarte, Janet Wilson, Bormuth, Sue Schaefer, G. Davis.

Election of officers was first on the agenda for the senior class of 1953. Bill Duffy was elected class president; Frank Wolf, vice president; Mary K. Schwarte, secretary; and Sue Schaefer, treasurer. The president of each homeroom was automatically a member of the senior senate and representatives from each homeroom were also chosen for that body. The senate met with Mr. Donald Lehigh, senior class sponsor, to make plans for senior activities.

Many senior boys were on the varsity football squad and several received recognition. Bill Houk was chosen captain at the end of the year by the other members of the team and was also on the IDPA first all-state football team. Other senior members of the football squad who received awards were Tom Judge, Dick Green, Frank Wolf, Rob Walsh, and Mike Ritland.

The basketball team selected Dick Green as honorary captain for the year and Bill Houk and Mike Ritland received honorable mention on the all-state cage team.

Four members of the senior class, Shirley Small, Bob Bentley, Peg Robbins, and Gary Mallo, starred in the dramatics club play, The Glass Menagerie. The senior class selected Green Grow the Lilacs as their class play and presented it on May 1 and 2.

Homecoming queen was Shirley Small. Her attendants were Sarah Hall and Janet Williams. Sarah Hall was chosen as SPIRIT Sweetheart and her attendants were Janet Williams and Sue Wymore.

Student body presidents were seniors Don Harris, first semester, and Jim Orth, second semester.

Seniors were active in the music groups this year, both vocal and instrumental. Many seniors participated in the Glee Club and Choir programs and in the Orchestra and Band.

The Junior Senior Banquet and Prom was held on May 9 and was well attended by seniors.

On May 27 the senior class ended regular school work. Their annual senior picnic was held on May 28 at the Country Club.

Baccalaureate was held the night of May 31. On June 1 the seniors attended Commencement and were graduated from Ames High school.

The Ames High school Concert Band presented to the citizens of the community the annual Spring Concert. Many well-known numbers were presented, also many numbers new to the listeners. There were a few numbers on the lighter side and some on the heavier side. The concert was climaxed by the Stars and Stripes Forever rendered in the John Phillip Sousa style. The final chorus was played by the brass section in full uniform. The uniforms were purchased by funds solicited from the merchants of Ames through long months of tramping the streets. Each member of the band solicited from several establishments of business and professional men in town. The names of donators were printed in the basketball programs except for 50 professional men. The reward of the students who tramped the street was the privilege of playing in the brand new uniforms.

The uniforms were exhibited for the second time at a concert for the student body and members of Central Junior High school. Many numbers were different from those heard at the Spring Concert, but several were repeated. One of the favorite numbers was Night Beat, which was the story of a man who was walking through various sections of New York. A walking theme recurred throughout the selection and one could tell the different parts of the town which he visited. Some of the places visited were Harlem, traffic on Broadway, Chinatown, and the water front.

Another interesting number was Stormy Weather which was given with interesting effects with the lighting. An actual storm was depicted on the stage with genuine thunder and lightning.

The concert, as it was held on the Thursday before Easter, was closed with a sacred number, Angelus from Scenes Pittoresque.

The band also marched during the Veishea parade along with numerous other bands.

The first concert that was presented by the Ames High school orchestra was the Junior Town program in the fall. In this program both serious numbers and novelty tunes were presented. The regular spring concert was presented on March 27 along with the band and the Welch-Central orchestra which are under the direction of Mr. Richard Day and Miss Jean Miller, respectively. This was well attended by parents, students, and other members of the community. The orchestra also attended the tri-city orchestra festival which was held all day this year in Fort Dodge.

The officers of the orchestra are Evelyn Dilts, president; Mary Jo Lindahl, vice president; and Mary Margaret Malander, secretary-treasurer.

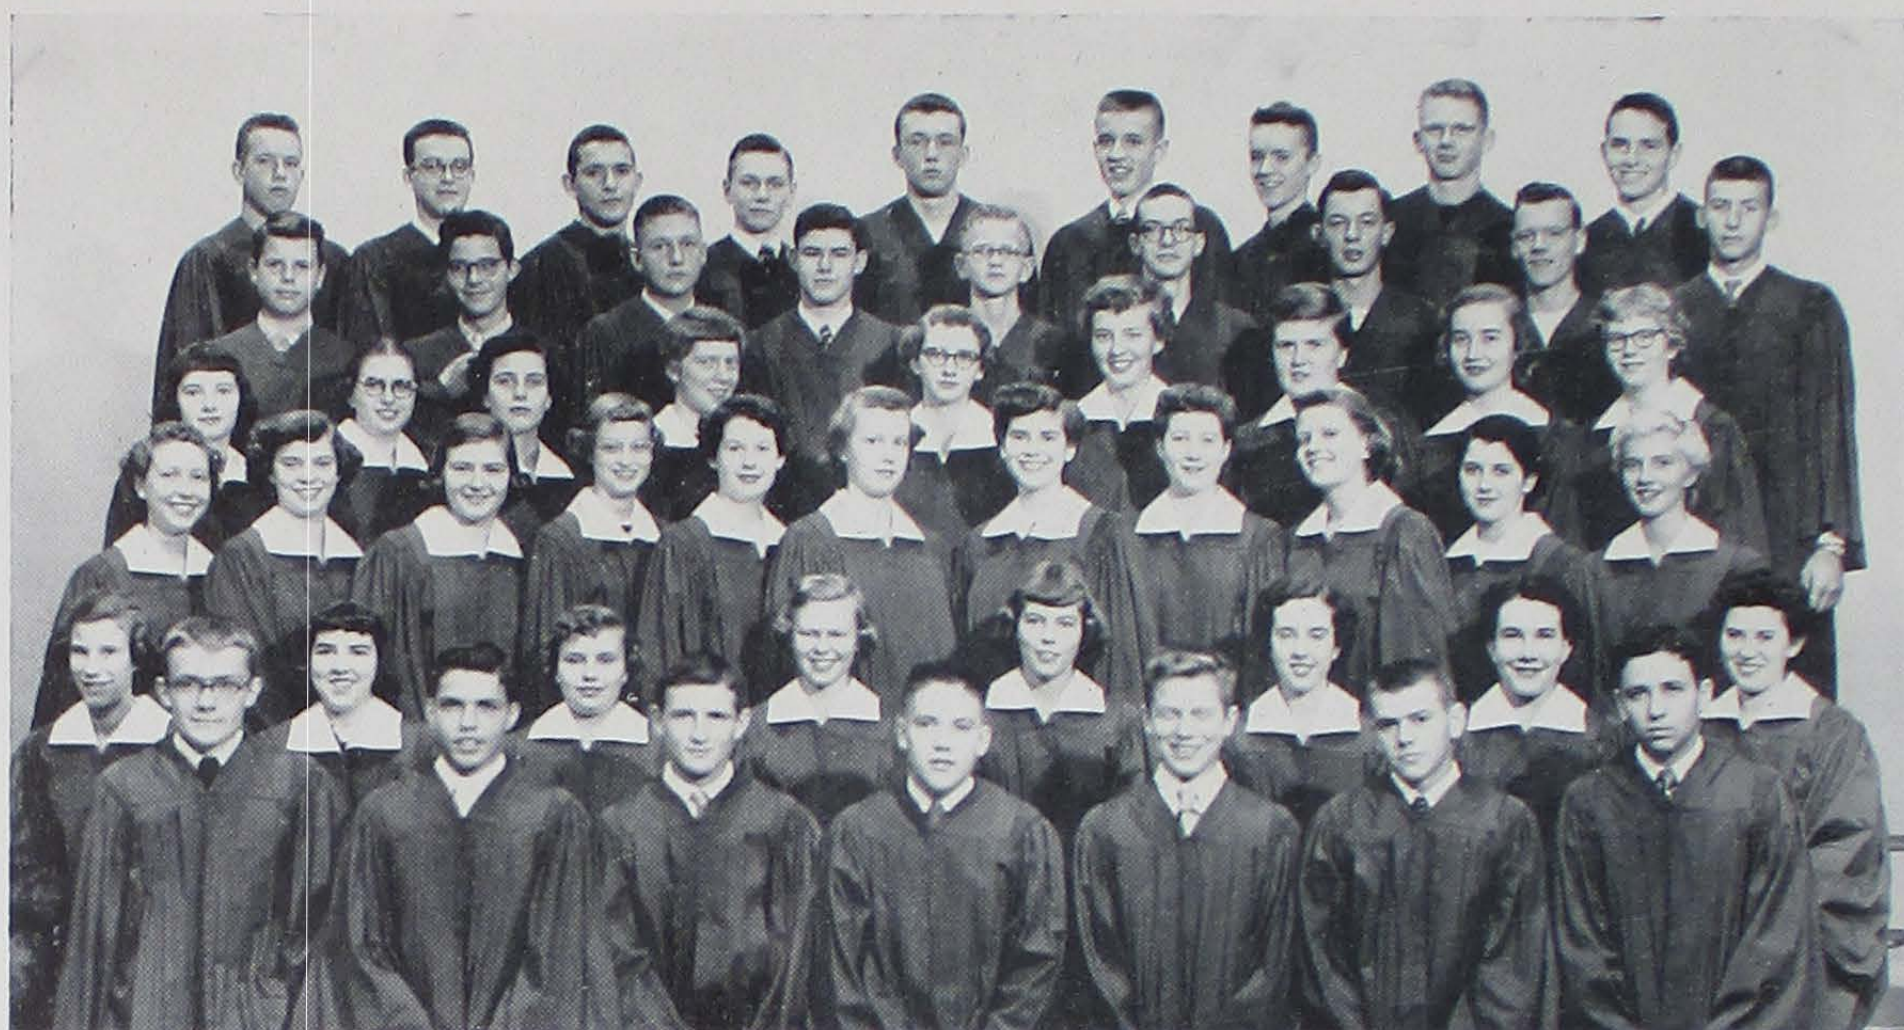

Theatre orchestra played before the Junior and Senior class plays and also between acts as an interlude while the sets were being changed. They also played for Baccalaureate and Commencement.

Among the many small groups in the orchestra is the string ensemble. This group is under the direction of Miss Ruth Miller. Members of string ensemble are Elaine Elwell, Elizabeth Coulter, Mary Jo Lindahl, Beverly Ogg, Peg Dilts, Evelyn Dilts, Ellen Molleston, Liz Miller, Nancy Clauson, Kay Buchholtz, Marcia Wilsie and Nancy Sanford.

The Girls' Glee Clubs and the A Cappella Choir are kept ready by Miss Edna Bower, who is sponsor and director of the groups, to appear in many engagements in the school and around the community. The Glee Club's big appearances are furnishing music for various Girl Reserve meetings and for one of the programs during Friendship Week. They also take part in the annual Christmas pageant.

The officers of the Glee Clubs first semester were Nancy Merchant and Nancy Clauson, presidents; Sarah Hall and Kay Buchholtz, vice presidents; Kathleen Thomas and Rosie Ritland, secretaries; and Kathy Wright and Liz Coulter, librarians. There were two separate Girls' Glee Clubs first semester, but they combined second semester to make just one group.

The Christmas pageant furnished one big moment for the Choir although they appeared other times during the year to the students and the community. Members of the Choir and other students took speaking parts in the pageant and the Glee Clubs also assisted.

Another important program for the Choir is the annual trip to the Veterans' Hospital in Des Moines at Easter time to sing for the patients there. The trip is made the Friday before Easter and many practices for the Choir are pointed to that particular program. Ruth Kershner sang a solo this year. A sextet and other small groups gave special numbers. The entire Choir sang sacred selections.

Many class periods for both the Choir and Glee Club were devoted to small group singing. This aided the students in developing harmony and tone.

Senior members of the Choir and Glee Club sang for Commencement this year.

The officers of Choir include Joe Molleston, president; Elaine Elwell, vice president; Cheryl Peyton and Ann Angle, secretaries; Jan Piper, librarian; and Perry Kellogg and Jane Rosebrook, robekeepers.

Many small groups were organized at various times during the year to add variety to the programs.

The primary objective of the journalism class is to learn to write news in an interesting and effective manner. Students learn newspaper terms, headline and news writing, how to interview people, and other basic journalism procedures.

The Web is published weekly and proof is read every Wednesday morning at the Tribune office by members of the staff.

A rotation editorial system was used during the first semester and an editorial board was used the second semester.

In connection with their unit on Straight Thinking and Propaganda Analysis, first semester students presented a "rumor clinic" to the student body on March 20.

Cubs' Club offers opportunities to those who are interested in writing but are not enrolled in the journalism class. Members learn newspaper terms, fundamentals of news writing, space counting, and other essentials. Cubs contribute steadily to the Web, and write the first Web issue of the second semester as a special project.

For the first time Cubs have been meeting regularly every Tuesday after school. First semester officers were Terry Adams, president; Nancy Wallace, vice president; and Peg Dilts, secretary. Second semester, Nancy Wallace was president; Terry Adams, vice president; and Martha Elder, secretary.

Our congratulations go to Nancy Wallace, who, in March, was selected as the Ames High representative to the Sub-Deb page of the Ladies' Home Journal.

A dinner party and a picnic provided the entertainment during the year.

Miss Charlotte Nelson was sponsor.

Ames High school's Radio Club has its own short wave radio station, WOTRI, and members of the club learn principles of operation and construction from studying the station. This year's presidents were Dick Stenerson and Bob Carr. This club is sponsored by Mr. Easter.

The Film Operators' Club spends the year operating the school's audio-visual equipment. The members of the club show films to different classes, combining learning with service.

Maintaining order in the halls of Ames High school is the duty and privilege of an organization of 39 boys known as the Firesquad. Led by Frank Wolf and Rob Walsh, and sponsored by Miss Ruth Miller, the boys maintain this order by little red warning slips which are issued upon any sign of an offense.

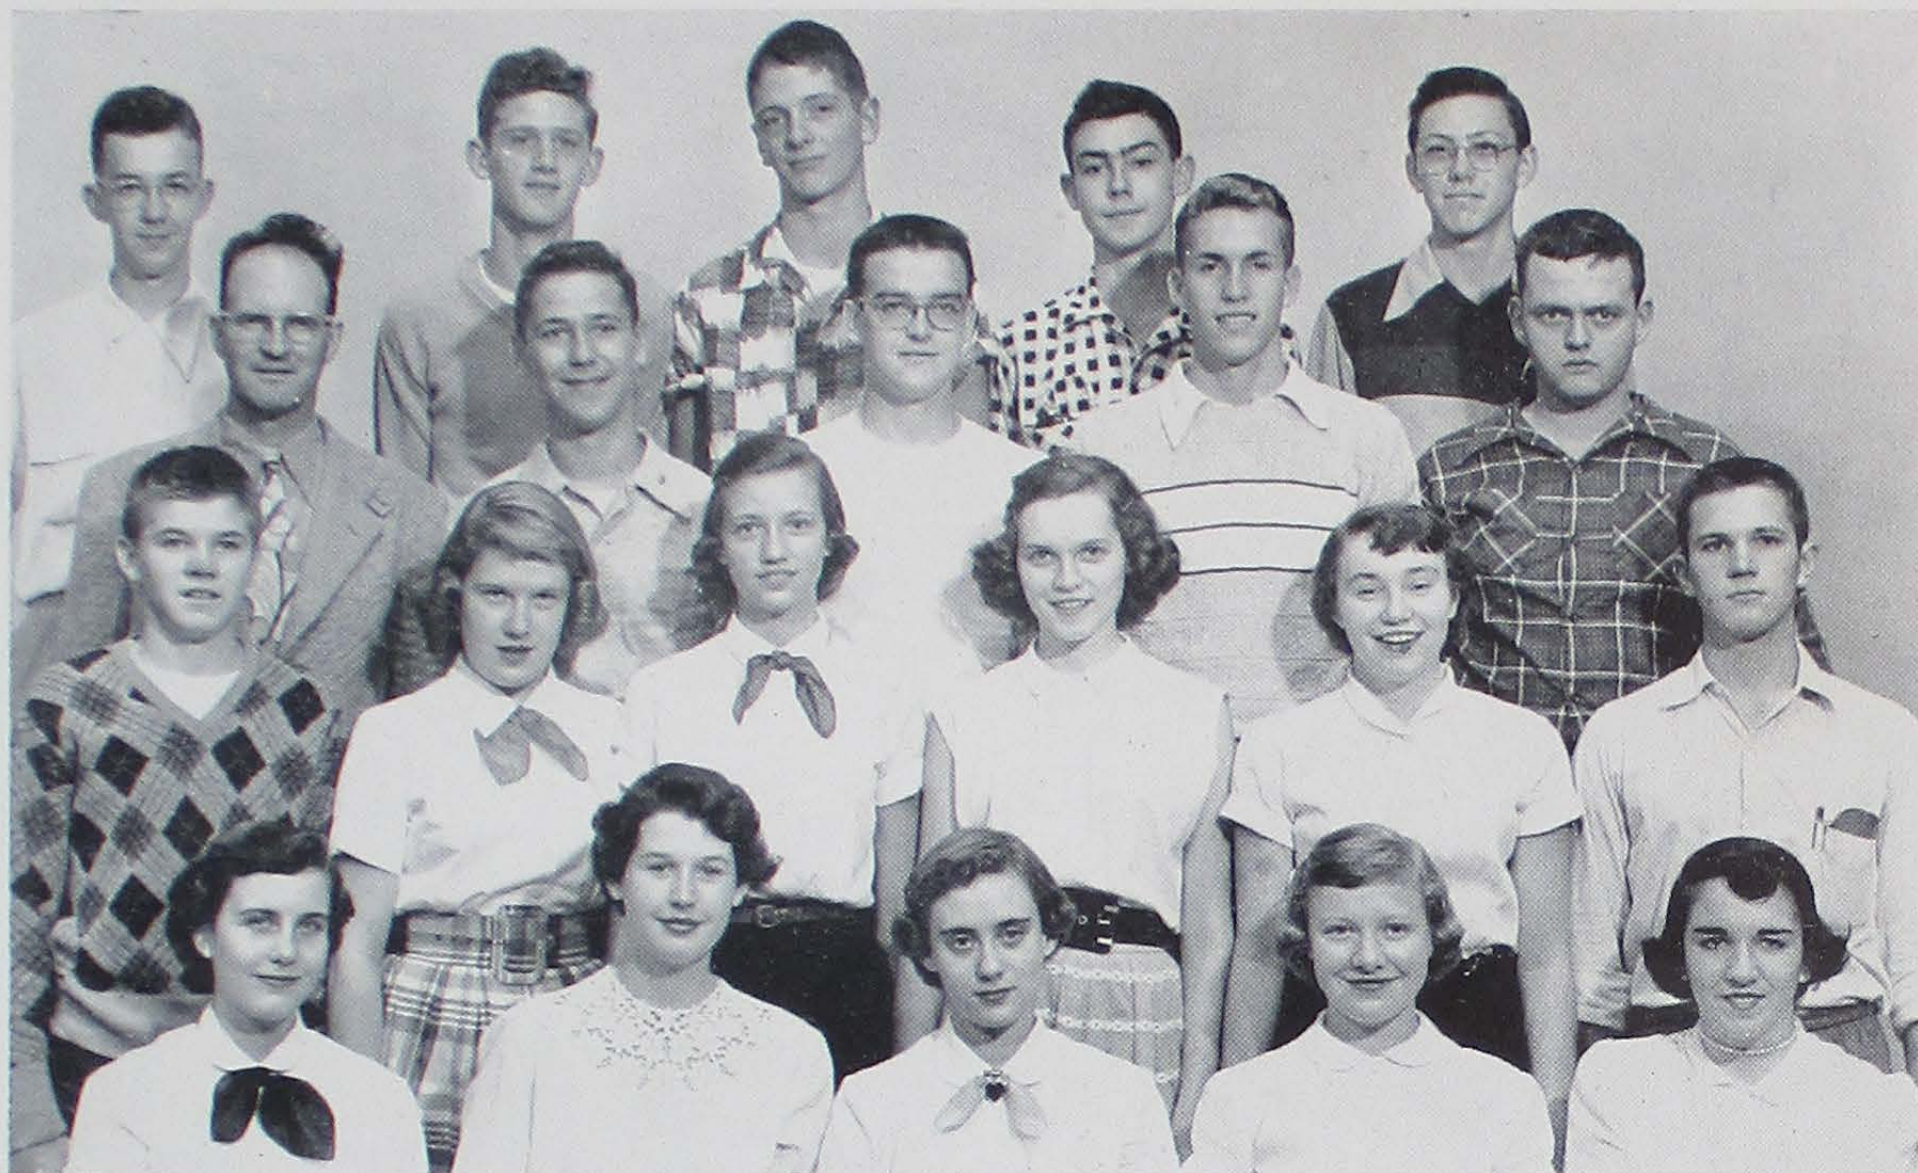

Boys wishing to become members of firesquad upon entering Ames High must be recommended by the faculties of both junior highs and then approved by Miss Miller. There are 13 new boys chosen each year.

A Firesquad member's year is highlighted by the annual Firesquad picnic which is financed by fines set upon tardy members. At this picnic the firechiefs are traditionally dunked.

Eighty-eight

Curtain

The success of Ames High school's system for accounting is largely due to the student treasurers who are required to keep financial records of the activities subject to checks by the general treasurer, Miss Mary McNally, the athletic treasurer, Mr. Donald Hartt, or Mr. Adams. Miss McNally and Mr. Hartt are ably assisted by Janet Chase and Carol Dage.

The Library Club, sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Dickinson, helps with the checking of books in the library and the display case. The girls receive valuable training in library work while binding books, rearranging the card catalogue, and repairing damaged books. The club is organized and has meetings at which times they discuss the problems of the library.

Berck's
Ames' Clothing Corner

Colleen and Janice stop on their way home for a delicious snack at the L-Way Cafe.

Don will look mighty "sharp" in one of these sweaters from the Men's department of Younkers.

The Nelson's are sure of good bakery products when Frances shops at the Fareway.

Mary Louise does the family's shopping at the West Street Grocery.

Donna chooses a colorful plant for her room from the assortment at Everts' Florists.

Bob examines the workings of the sleek new Chrysler at Dahlberg Motor Company.

Acknowledgments

Neva would surely feel like a queen in a Chevrolet from Allen Motor.

Ron would like this suit from Don Beam's to add to his wardrobe.

Sharon is planning to have her eyes examined at Jensen Optical Co.

Good protection! Sue is sure of that at Holtz and Nairn Insurance.

Kay would like these swell pictures from Irvines in her room.

Student Supply has just the typewriter for Mary Lou's school work.

This coat from The Fair Store is what Mary Lynn wants for long winter months.

Don knows Ames Laundry always does his laundry best.

The girls will enjoy the movie with candy and popcorn from the Collegian concession stand.

Posey selects her fruit from the wide assortment at the Ames Fruit & Grocery.

Jamie will surely look "sharp" in these shoes from Bauge's.

Mary wants flowers like these from Da Leart's everyday.

Acknowledgments

Jim knows R. E. Ness will supply him with an excellent typewriter.

Marge counts on the Contours to style and set her hair for all occasions.

This beautiful courseage from Coe's will make Mary Jo's evening complete.

"Service is my business," sez Jim of Mathews Super Service.

After school, Sheila likes to stop at Malander's Ninth Street Grocery for some "goodies."

"Our material selection service saves," says Mr. Johnson, pointing out quality lumber to Roger.

A '53 Ford from Mathison Motor Company is Sue's and Joe's dream of a perfect ride.

Derry can keep up on Ames High humor by buying magazines at Walt's News Stand and Agency.

Oslund's Drug Store service and food appeal to Jackie and Bruce at all times.

Hal has learned the Des Moines Register and Tribune supplies him with all the news.

Janice wants these good looking and well fitting shoes at Emerhoff's Footwear.

"Bakery goods are mouth watering at Hy-Vee Food Store," says Louise.

Acknowledgments

Whatcha looking at Tom? Why, it's one of the new cars at Motor Sales and Service.

Karla always goes to Bates to choose her jewelry.

Gary knows this cement mixer at Ames Lumber Co. represents another of the services offered.

While her mother is shopping, Nancy's taking advantage of the snack bar at Rushing's.

Fishes, Beware! Denny buys his fishing equipment at the Western Auto store.

Mickey fills the party cooler with delicious pop from Dr. Pepper Bottling Company.

John looks over some of the "do-dads" on display at Nelson Electric Company.

The intricate parts of this tractor at Daulton Motor fascinate and intrigue Joe.

Pat models a gown of net over taffeta from Younker's Formal Section.

Bob smiles his approval after carefully inspecting the 1953 Studebaker at Whatoff's.

Terry is more than willing to help carry this new television set from Gulliver's.

Casey and Kent seem to enjoy the cokes and friendly atmosphere at Scotty's Chicken Inn.

Acknowledgments

Bill is shown the latest in men's clothing at Abe's Men's Shop.

Carol selects her greeting cards from the wide assortment she finds at Carter Press.

Ann knows this laundry unit is only one of many quality appliances to be found at Palmer Plumbing.

Janice and her family eat lots of fresh green vegetables from the Fareway Grocery.

When his shoes need repairing, Bill always heads straight for the Goodyear Shoe Repair Shop.

Mary Jo's a smart girl. She has her clothes cleaned at Lindquist's.

Shirley will make her selection from the large variety at Moser Luggage.

Kenny always has his car washed and serviced at Britnall's.

Beverly keeps her hands, as well as her hair, neat and attractive with visits to Max Harriman's.

Nancy and Vernon enjoy cokes and good service at the Rainbow Coffee Shop.

Just keep on typing, Charlene, we won't bother you when we come to buy our policies at LaGrange.

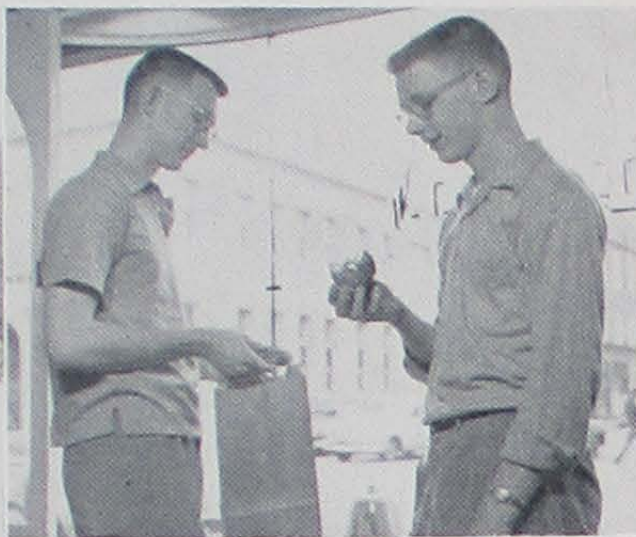

Donna knows she will always find the latest styles on sale in Tilden's.

Acknowledgments

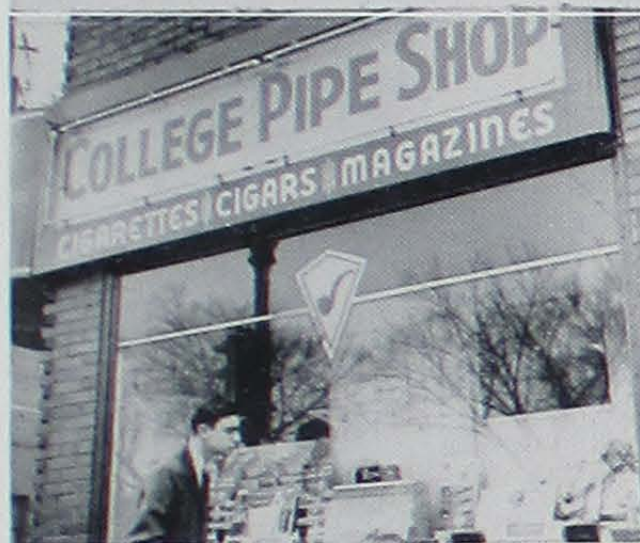

Ben thinks the new '53 Mercury from Mathison's is pretty keen.

Denny and Terry frequently stop at Purity Bakery for some of those delicious doughnuts.

Barbara shows Janet some of the latest styles on sale at Younker's Sweater Bar.

Bob looks at the merchandise on display in the window of the College Pipe Shop.

With a stoker from Edward's Coal, Jim wouldn't have to do this.

Marlene knows she will receive quality meats when she shops at the Fareway.

Sandy looks over the selection of quality perfumes at Judisch Bros. Drug Store.

Tom knows this tractor from Armstrong's will get all types of work done.

John puts his stamp of approval on this jacket from the J. C. Penney Company.

Like it Loraine? It's only one of many such items to be found at Charles Ray Jewelers.

Jean and Carroll have a chat while they wait for their food at Tom's Grill.

Keith feels like a real "pro" with this baseball bat from the Sportsman of Ames.
